What We Do

Wells of Love is the service learning program of Amman Imman: Water is Life. Amman Imman is dedicated to improving and saving lives among the poorest and most severely threatened populations of the world by supplying permanent sources of water in the Azawak of West Africa.

The Wells of Love service learning program was initiated in 2006. Students in over 50 schools have been empowered as "Heroes of Compassion" - future leaders with a caring, philanthropic spirit – by bringing water and hope to the children and adults living in the Azawak.

With the help of these Heroes, borehole wells are being constructed across the Azawak region. Each well provides life-giving water to over 25,000 people and animals. These Oases of Life make it possible for other development organizations to provide schools for children and adults, reforestation and environmental protection programs, and food and health aid.

What You Can Do

Make a difference! Take these three steps:

1. Learn about the crisis in the Azawak

- Research using the Amman Imman website. <http://www.ammanimman.org>
- Download curriculum materials http://www.welloflove.info/WOL/Resources_and_Tools.html
- Watch our YouTube videos, <http://www.youtube.com/user/djoie>

2. Take Action

- Present the project in your community.
- Declare your objective.
- Start a campaign.
- Implement an activity or event to raise awareness and funds. Download a Fundraising Kit!

3. Share your experience

- Submit feedback and photos.
- Send us your story and we'll add it to the Wells of Love blog, <http://www.ammanimman.org/wellofloveblog>
